Yours faithfully,

The visit could be organized in June this year, at a date to be established through the Secretariats of our committees.

With this in mind, we hereby extend the invitation to pay a visit to Romania together with members of the European Affairs Committee of the Folketing.

The Treaty expressly mentions the inter-parliamentary cooperation between national Parliaments as one of the means to actively contribute to the good functioning of the Union. We think the bilateral tier of such cooperation can prove very instrumental for the success of the visionary strategy behind this provision.

National Parliaments in member states are in full process of adapting their decision making procedures to the new role and powers entrusted by the Lisbon Treaty.

Dear Ms. MELDGÅRD,
